

UNITED NATIONS MONETARY CONFERENCE 1944

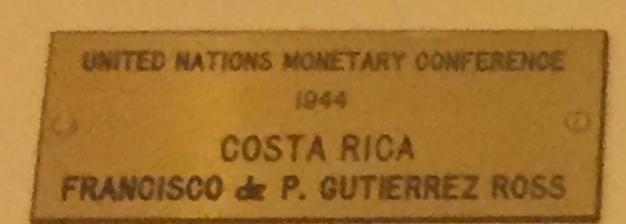

YUGOSLAVIA VLADIMIR RYBAR

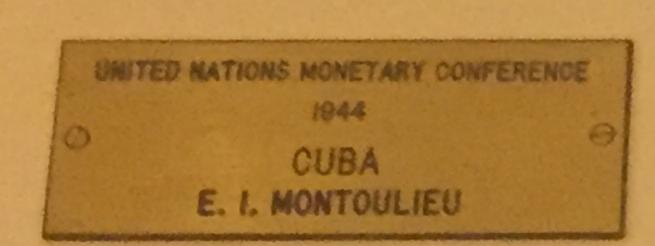

LUIS ALAMOS BARROS

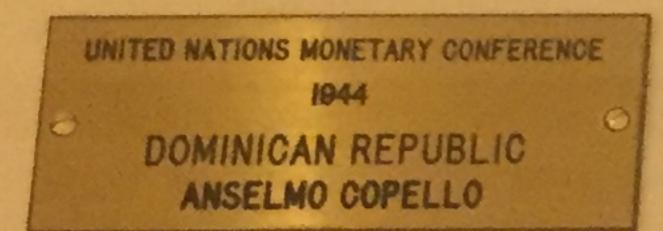

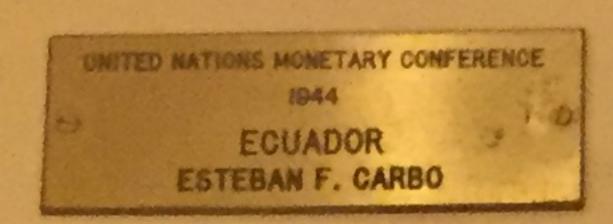

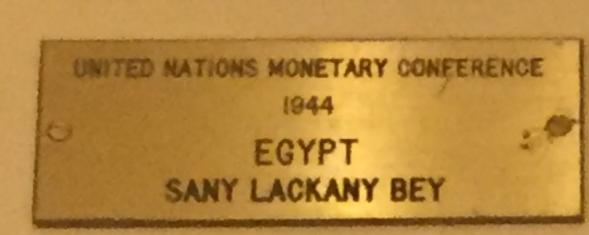

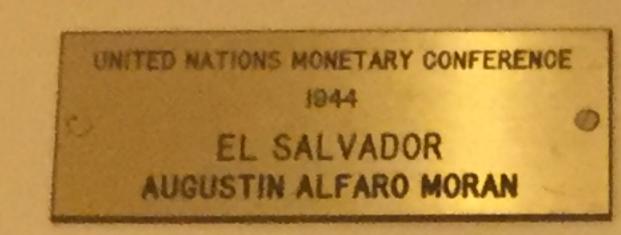

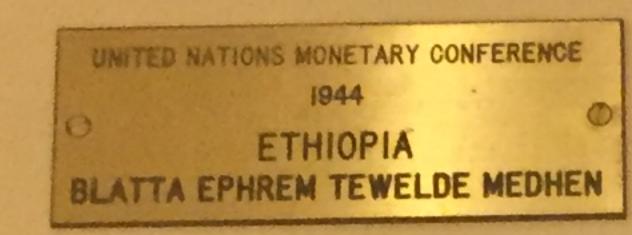

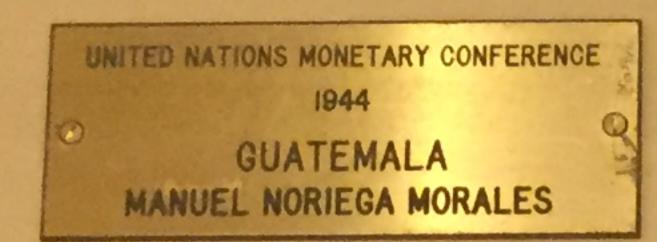

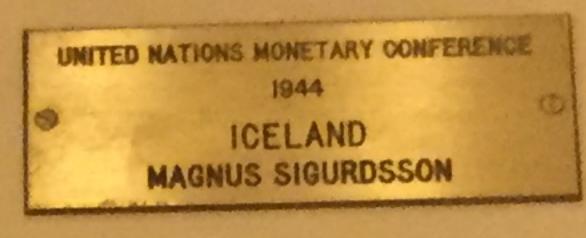

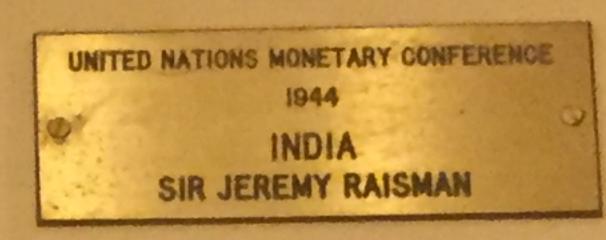

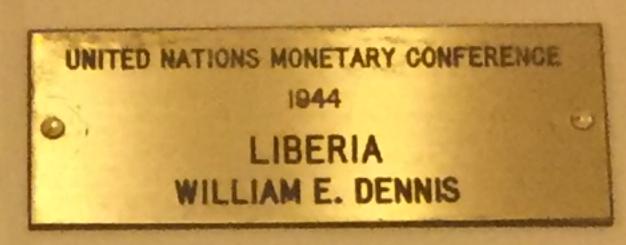

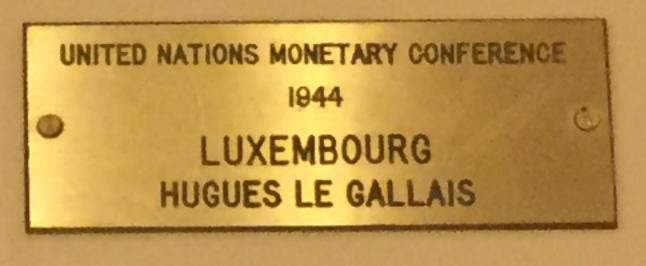

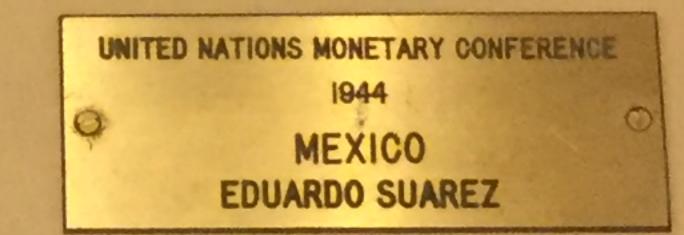

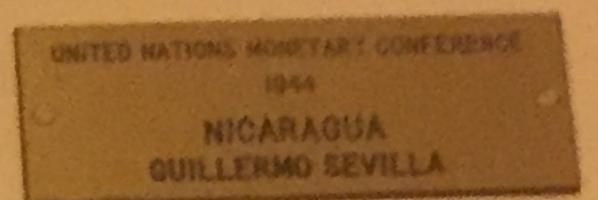

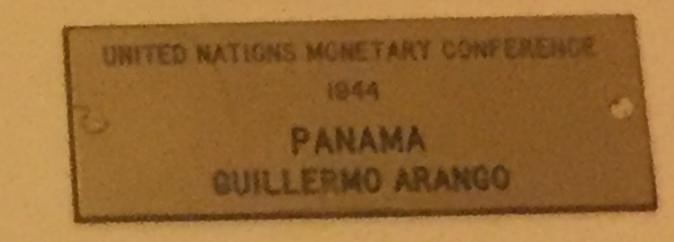

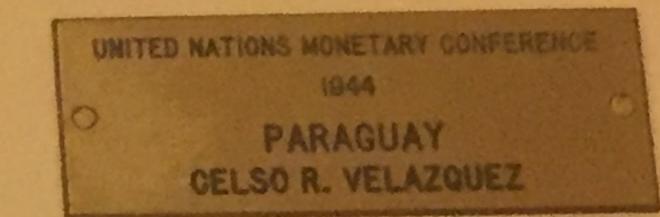

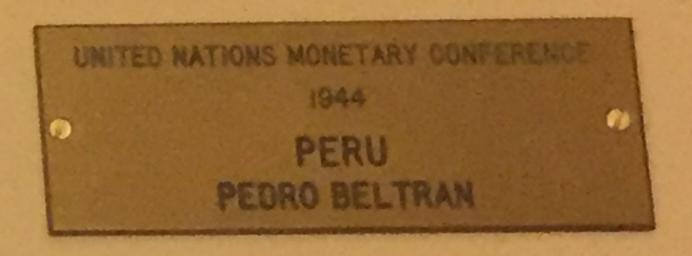

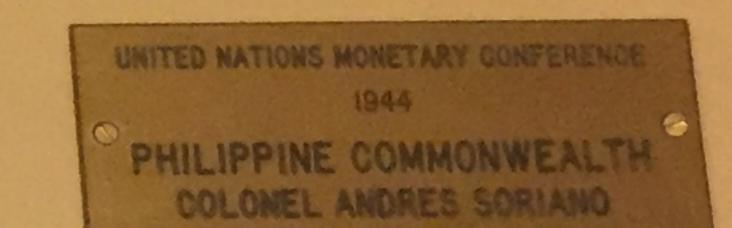

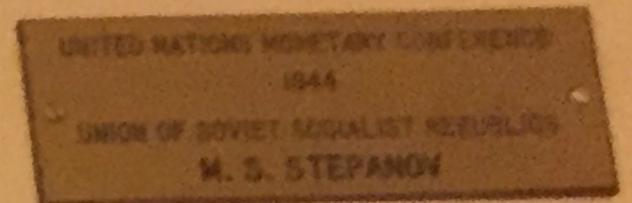

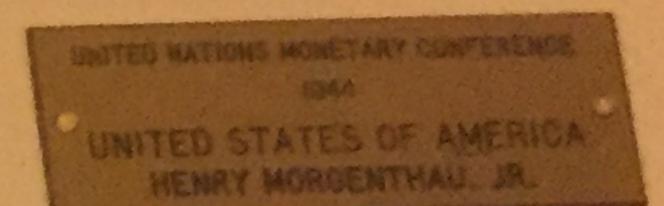

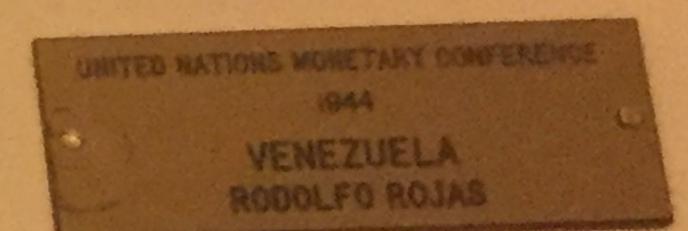

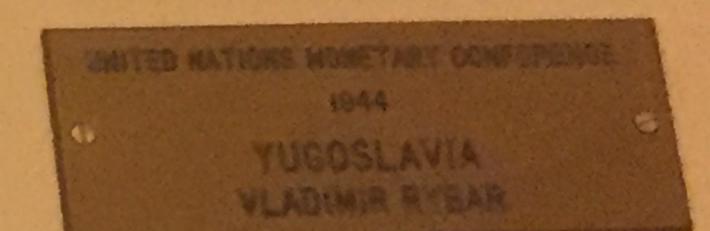

LORD JOHN MATHARD KETHES

These plaques denote the senior delegates to the Bretton Woods International Monetary Conference who stayed here at the Mount Washington July 1-22, 1944.

Other delegations stayed at the nearby Crawford House and Maplewood Hotels.

In this room were signed the Articles creating the International Monetary Fund, The World Bank along with Tariff Agreements designed to create a post World War II stable economic order.

These institutions continue to lay as I as of the and wide monetary system.

Indeed, the words "Bretton Woods" are used daily around the world when discussing International Monetary matters.
